GUILD HOUSE REDECORATED

Proceeds of Pageant Make Possible Attractive Clubhouse.
Gymnasium Classes Open With Large Registration.

In an attractively decorated club house and supported by the renewed interest of the town at large, both results of the recent Rainbow pageant, the work of the Andover Guild opened for the season this week.

The building on Brook street which had necessarily been without repairs owing to lack of funds during the exacting days of the war, has now been made fresh and clean both inside and out. The outside painting was accomplished during the summer and within the past fortnight workmen have transformed the interior.

The walls of the entrance hall have been finished in yellow with a paper, the surface of which can easily be cleaned. The large game room on the right glows with orange and bright colored English prints which please the boys whose own room this is.

The superintendent's room on the left has a tapestry paper which gives it a homelike appearance and relieves the bareness usually associated with an office. The club room back of this is finished in yellow which makes an effective background for the framed pictures of Andover Guild teams through successive years.

Upstairs the girls have a clubroom which delights their hearts. The walls are bright with a paper in floral design. Hangings of soft gray at the windows will harmonize with the furniture which has been done over in gray enamel. The gift of a set of china and a tea kettle will make possible added opportunities for sociability and hospitality.

The room formerly occupied by resident workers has been made very attractive with fresh wall paper and white woodwork. The white furniture is the same that was provided when the room was first furnished. This room is often used by the superintendent and her assistant, and also by members of visiting teams. New shades all over the house add greatly to its general appearance.

The plumbing is receiving necessary repairs and later it is hoped to do some work in the kitchen and gymnasium.

The members of the committee in charge of the redecorating were Miss Anna W. Kuhn, chairman; Mrs. Katherine M. Pinck-

MEMORIAL TOWER BELLS

Contract Awarded for English Carillon of Thirty Bells. Installation to Be Completed in June.

The contract for the new bells for the new Memorial Tower has been awarded to the firm of Taylor and Co., bell-founders, of Loughborough, England. Taylor and Co. have installed the chime in the Harkness building at New Haven, the finest bells in this country, a recent very large Carillon in the new town hall at Rotterdam, in Holland, they are installing the largest Carillon in the world in a new memorial tower in Loughborough, England, and are generally considered to be the leading bell-founders at the present day. There will be a Carillon of thirty bells in the new tower, beginning with E below middle C, and extending upward chromatically, with the exception of the two lowest semitones, to high C. Such a Carillon enables the player to perform music of a very much wider range and character than the ordinary chime of about a dozen bells.

The bells are played from a console placed in the tower on the floor beneath the bell-chamber, the console consisting of levers for the hand or feet, and foot-pedals which duplicate the levers for the lower bells. Four of the bells will strike the Westminster Chime at the quarter hours. It is hoped to have the installation completed in time for the commencement next June.

The annual Xmas Vespers which have become a definite feature in the musical life of the Academy will take place on Sunday afternoon, December 17, beginning with a recital at 4 o'clock. The recital this year should prove of more than usual interest as Mr. Holy, harpist of the Boston Symphony orchestra, will be an added soloist and there will be compositions for violin, violoncello, harp and organ.

All lovers of music in Andover should not fail to hear M. Dupre, organist at Notre Dame in Paris, on Thursday evening, Jan-

F., Wednesday night in Odd Fellows hall. Mr. MacNulty spoke of the changing conditions in the industrial world, particularly in America where capitalists, so-called are in many instances beginning to recognize that the human element in industry, so long neglected, is of vastly more importance than improved machinery. Millions have been spent in perfecting labor saving devices, while nothing had been done to improve the human element. An open forum followed and Mr. MacNulty answered many questions on industrial topics.

Fur acts

THE FUR INDUSTRY is recognized as the oldest, and to claim it to be one of the most important of all American industries will hardly be questioned. It had its inception in the days when the Indian populated the North American wilds—which we now call states and provinces. Pelts were used as a medium of exchange as today we use our check book.

The fact that furs are used so extensively for outer garments and form a part of many of the most fashionable cloth garments worn today is reason for suggesting a subject of study—that is interesting, instructive, and important.

"Blood and Sand" Rudolph Valentino's
First Star Picture

The celebrated novel, "Blood and Sand," by Vicente Blasco Ibanez, author of the tremendously successful "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," has been adapted for the screen and will open at the Colonial theatre, Andover, for two days beginning Monday, December 11, next. Rudolph Valentino is the star and Lila Lee and Nita Naldi are featured.

This is an announcement of interest to book-lovers and those who follow the artistic advance of the photoplay. For "Blood and Sand," an exotic, colorful story of Spain, is said to be even more compellingly interesting than was its great predecessor by the same author.

"Blood and Sand" has another unusual point of appeal in that it is the first starring picture of Rudolph Valentino whose rise to film success has been without precedent. It is a Fred Niblo production, directed by the man who made "The Three Musketeers." Assurance that the Ibanez novel has been correctly interpreted is offered with the presentation of June Mathis as adaptor. She wrote the scenario for "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." Mr. Valentino is supported in "Blood and Sand" by Lila Lee and Nita Naldi, and a picked company of Paramount stock players.

LAWRENCE COLONIAL

It is certainly satisfying to the playgoers in this vicinity to feel that there is one playhouse within a handy distance that is still devoted to the real flesh and blood and speaking drama, and has not yielded to the temptations of the celluloid. The Colonial is appreciated and well patronized, too, for it is giving the latest and best stage productions in true metropolitan style. Nothing could be more charming than the Colonial Players' presentation this week of the Tremont Theatre success, "Three Wise Fools," in which the new leading lady, Genevieve Cliff, has proved herself an actress of consummate skill, power and charm.

Next week is to be "George M. Cohan Week" and the play is to be the popular George M.'s latest success and the last in which he appeared personally, "The Meanest Man in the World," a pleasing play with a most wonderful twist, in that the young lawyer, starting out with the avowed determination to become and be known as the prince of mean men, actually becomes popular and a benefactor to many—the harder he tries to be mean, the more certain is the Almighty to defeat his intention. It has a big cast of typical city and country characters and Cohan humor, Cohan wit, Cohan pep and Cohan thrills pervade it. "The Colonial Monday Night Club" next Monday gives away to two seat holders a gentleman's Waltham and a lady's wrist watch, and everyone attending from now on receives a participation coupon.

MAJESTIC

Eddie Nelson, the popular and very clever comedian, is billed to make an appearance next week at the Majestic Theatre, Boston, in one of the principal Shubert Vaudeville circuit attractions, entitled "Echoes of Broadway." Mr. Nelson as is known, starred as the principal comedian with it in "Last Waltz," last season, and newspaper critics have acclaimed Nelson as one of the five of the stage's greatest comedians of today.

The vaudeville end of this bill includes the names of some of the best known headlines in vaudeville. Nip and Fletcher, two male dancers who proved to be the hit of the magnificent revue staged last summer at New York's most fashionable cabaret, the "Boardwalk." Ethel Davis, the red haired cyclone of song and talk, assisted at the piano by Fred Rich, the Murray Sisters, presenting a novel singing and dancing act, the Five Janaleys, acrobats who crowd many thrills into a few minutes of time, and Eddie Nelson the star of the attraction, with Captain Irving O'Hay, in a few extra laughs.

Virginia Anno, possessing a remarkable voice is seen as the prima donna in the revue which follows and Henry Stremel, doubtless America's greatest young tenor, holds the juvenile role. In this portion of the bill, Nelson scores one big laugh after another with his nonsensical patter, songs, funny dancing and witty sayings. The settings and costumes represent a small fortune and the chorus is composed of sixteen beautiful Broadway girls, recruited from some of Broadway's most popular musical comedy shows.

SHUBERT THEATRE

Once again has Arthur Hammerstein delved into the theatrical grab bag and brought forth a sparkling musical gem in the form of "Daffy Dill." The setting is the Tinney as the comedian-in-chief is playing three weeks' engagement at the Shubert Theatre, Boston. The second week begins next Monday, December 11.

The piece comes with the indelible "O. K." of the discerning New York critics. First of all, the book, or plot as it is called, by Oscar Hammerstein, the second, and Guy Bolton, who have many successful productions to their credit. Herbert Stothart composed the music, which easily qualifies to follow the high standard set by Mr. Stothart's earlier "Always You," "Tinkle Me," and "Jiminy." Some of "Daffy Dill" is already familiar here including "I'll Build a Bungalow," "Fair Enough," "Two Little Ruby Rings," "Chinky Chink," and "Captain Kid's Kids."

"Daffy Dill," which is in two acts and eleven scenes is said to represent Mr. Hammerstein's most pretentious offering to date. Julian Mitchell arranged the dancing ensembles and the entire production has been staged under the direction of Arthur Hammerstein.

In addition to Mr. Tinney the Broadway cast includes Guy Rolleston, Irene Olsen, Jerome Daly, the Lytle Trio, Frederick Renoff, Loris Lee, Ben Mulvey, Ethel Kinley, Gerard Gardner, Al Walton, Jay Manners, Josephine Stevens, and a typical Hammerstein beauty chorus.

The most significant feature of "Daffy Dill" is the fact that the author has bestowed intelligent thought upon the book, or plot, which is of sufficient attainment to hold the attention of the most "jaded" theatre-goer.

PLYMOUTH THEATRE

"The Dover Road"—a new comedy by A. A. Milne with Charles Cherry at the head of the original New York Company, is playing a three weeks' engagement at the Plymouth Theatre, Boston, under the direction of Guthrie McClintic. The second week begins Monday evening, December 11th.

A. A. Milne, an Englishman, formerly assistant editor of London Punch, whose vogue seems to be at its height at the present moment, is the author of "Mr. Pim Passes By," "The Truth About Blaydes," two comedies produced in New York within the last fortnight, "The Romantic Age" and "The Lucky One," and many other plays. He is a close friend of Sir James Barrie and seems to share with him in his writings, the possession of that undefinable quality called "charm." Milne, being a younger man, his plays are more in the modern spirit of youth and humor.

"The Dover Road" is probably the biggest success of anything of Milne's so far produced. It enjoyed a run of ten months last season at the Bijou Theatre, New York, breaking the record for long runs of that house. It also had the longest run of any English play ever produced in New York and is the only English play ever given a premiere in America. Guthrie McClintic a newcomer in the producing field, trained in the office of Winthrop Ames, established himself immediately as an artist in the manner in which he cast and staged "The Dover Road." Charles Cherry, last seen in Boston in "Scandal," appears as Mr. Latimer, a role entirely different and gives the finest performance of his career. The excellent company which includes Molly Parnes, Kathleen Conways, Reggie Mason, Lionel Watts, George Riddell and others is exactly the same as in New York.

The play is in three acts, the action taking place in the home of a wealthy gentleman on the Dover road.

WILBUR THEATRE

That greatest of all mystery plays, "The Bat," soon starts on its fifth month at the Wilbur Theatre, Boston, and the winning has gone out that while it will remain there until Christmas a sudden departure may be looked for any moment. Some time ago a contract was made for the appearance of this particular company, the original New York one, for a tour of Australia, and theatre-goers of the Antipodes are getting very emphatic in their insistence that "The Bat" arrive on their soil to start the New Year right.

In the meantime the Wilbur Theatre is packed to its utmost capacity at every performance. The revelation of who the mysterious "Bat" is—he who commits so many crimes in the course of the play—does not come until the fall of the final curtain, and even then the theatregoers are so mystified as to why they had not picked up some clue as to his identity that they go to see the play again and again. Even detectives who have gone to see the play more than once have confessed that still they discover no clue that would have told them who the "Bat" is. However, the clues are there, if one will watch sharply with a deductive mind.

Mary Roberts Rinehart has proven herself so expert, and skillfully modeled as a play by Avery Hopwood, "The Bat" is at once the most ingenious, exciting and thoroughly worringly melodramatic ever produced. For those who relish humor in addition to their thrills, "The Bat" also offers splendid entertainment. A splendid cast and a flawless Wagenhals and Kemper production add to the expert artistry of the authors, simply further serving to make this sensation the most absorbing, fascinating and altogether enjoyable mystery play of many seasons.

A Letter from Italy

Dear Townsman:

A chance whim took me to Genoa, and the city surprised and charmed me so much that it seems imperative for me to herald the beauties of this ancient burg to prospective travellers from home. Rightly the city was called "The Superb" by the Italians of the Renaissance. Our tourist bureaus and popular literature impose every form of emphasis on the vast treasures of painting, sculpture and architecture throughout Italy but, probably because there are few notable paintings in Genoa, the propaganda of tourists hasten by this lovely spot, or use it for a hostelry by night. A far famed harbor crowded with the craft of all nations bends into shores that rise swiftly with their burden of man-wrought stone, rich and lavish with color. Behind the city rise the encircling hills that form its protective rampart from the northern blasts.

Nothing could be more misleading than to liken Genoa with Naples, as is so often done. Genoa is scrupulously clean; in fact a marvel to one accustomed to Andover and Boston streets. Great blocks of stone pave every highway and alley, and busy hokey-pokey carts keep all tidy and smart. The city has a multitude of noble old Renaissance palaces, now housing its business. I know of no city in Italy that has so many interesting creations of architectural imagination, save only Venice; and the buildings are in much better preservation than elsewhere. Huge pillared and pilastered fronts with noble doors and windows, elegant cornices, sculptured aries, painted walls of lovely faded hues, splendid groups of arches and arcades, and high set loggias with adjoining gardens that grow above one-story annexes—all offer a profusion of artistry in building that exalts the imagination of the beholder and makes him marvel at the civic spirit of these prices of trade of olden days.

Numerous open spots with grass and trees and fountains and statuary dot the city and furnish charming resting places for the people—and they use them freely.

Excellent shops with everything that man, and particularly woman, needs, wants, or can covet, are everywhere. There are no Jordan and Marsh, or Wanamaker emporiums here; it is the house of the multitude of small shopkeepers. Individuality lends interest to every little display window and makes any walk about town entertaining. Fascinating little alleys slip here and there between tall buildings and end in an exquisitely arched gateway with a lovely little shrine of Madonna or saint above it, or abruptly turn against a frowning wall and disappear.

The environs of the city are beautiful, the drives along the Riviera shores, with mountains flanking on the north, are the rivals of any in the world.

The people are prosperous looking, well dressed beyond belief. They are good looking men, intelligent, self contained, and fine mannered. The women are good to look at, but their slender ankles are set high in the air by heels that may be under six inches in altitude, but that do not look it.

We are in the midst of a revolution and do not know it. On the 4th of November a great procession was given in Genoa to celebrate the Armistice and the new Revolution. I moved about the streets to see how the people acted and could discover no ill will toward the new regime. There was great applause for the wounded veterans in the line, but no outburst for the others. Apparently the Socialists are covered for the time being, and others hope that the dictatorship of Mussolini will result in the betterment of Italy's financial and industrial condition. Already the rise of the lire gives evidence of confidence in the government of force. The Fascisti stand for work, sound finance, reduction of personnel in government bureaus and the return of railroads and government monopolies to private ownership.

Yours truly,
C. H. FORBES

Mud

Your attention is called to a communication elsewhere in this issue which deplores the almost impassable condition of a section of one of the town's highways and which calls for some definite action on the part of the "Powers That Be" toward the remedying of the situation. Since the writing of the communication, Dame Nature has stepped in and remedied part of it nicely by delivering several days of freezing weather and converting a mud-hole into a rutty ice menace to auto traffic.

There is a little more to the story than appears in the communication. It seems that some time ago, when the condition first appeared, certain parties approached the Town Officials and pointed out to them that something should be done to remedy it. The "Powers That Be" took the matter in hand very promptly, took up the question of repairs to the muddy road with the parties responsible for it and secured from them a promise that the condition would be remedied immediately and that suitable repairs would be made to the road. Investigation proves that up to the time when the road froze, there had been no change in its condition as a result of this action.

In other words, nothing has been accomplished.

Editorial Cinders

Founded in 1822, keeping its continuous organization through trying times which caused many similar groups to disband, advancing and enlarging steadily through the years, with its periods of successful accomplishment and its periods of bare existence, Saint Matthews Lodge A.F. and A.M. celebrates its 100th Anniversary on Sunday. Its early life presents a story of true brotherhood triumphing over many difficult obstacles. Its later history chronicles a story which wraps itself closely with the development of our Town. May its future prove as successful as its fondest well-wishers can hope for.

The recent resignation of David Shaw as Treasurer of the Board of Directors of the Andover Home for Aged People brings to a close a fourteen-year term of self-sacrificing service which dates from the original inception of the Home. Mr. Shaw has handled the financial problems of the Home with a great deal of careful consideration and the continuous successful existence of the organization is due in no small degree to the results of his foresight and wise judgment.

Andover Mothers' Club

The December meeting of the Andover Mothers' Club and Parent Teacher Association was held Wednesday afternoon at the Punched School, with a good attendance.

It was voted to continue the annual custom of sending Christmas boxes to needy families designated by the district nurse. Contributions of money, food, clothing and toys are solicited for the purpose. The boxes will be packed on December 22nd at the home of Mrs. Otis Keith, 73 Park street.

After the business was transacted the members and guests listened to Miss Mabel Carter, who gave a very interesting account of her recent visit in London. She gave some intimate glimpses of English life which would not be seen by the casual tourist, and which were much appreciated by her audience. After the talk a social hour was enjoyed, during which refreshments were served by Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Fred Collins and Mrs. Eaton.

It is planned to hold an evening meeting in February, the date to be announced later, at which Mrs. Hovey of Bradford, Child Welfare Chairman for the State Parent Teacher Association, will speak. At this meeting the sister organizations of Ballardvale, Shawheen Village and the Hood School, Lawrence will be invited to attend, also the teachers and all friends of the public schools of Andover.

OBITUARIES

MRS. EMILY P. BRIGGS

Mrs. Emily P. Briggs, widow of Caleb Tucker Briggs of Lawrence, formerly connected with the Briggs and Allen Co. of Lawrence, passed away Monday morning at 1 Waterhouse street, Cambridge, where for the last ten years she had made her home with her only surviving daughters, the Misses Clarissa A. and Emily E. Briggs. The deceased formerly resided in Lawrence, moving to Andover after the death of her husband. She was 88 years of age.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the First Congregational church, Cambridge.

MRS. ELIZABETH McDONALD

Mrs. Elizabeth McDonald, widow of Patrick McDonald, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Jane Hannon, Burnham road, Wednesday morning. Besides her daughter she leaves one son, Charles Hannon.

Funeral services will be held at the late home on Saturday morning with services in St. Augustine's church, and burial will take place in the Immaculate Conception cemetery, Lawrence.

MRS. MARY CASHAN

Mrs. Mary Cashan, widow of Peter Cashan, died Wednesday morning at the O'Donnell sanitarium, Ballardvale, after a long illness. She was born in Saugus, 60 years ago and had made her home in Andover for many years. Her husband died two years ago.

Eight children survive her, Elizabeth, Emma, Henrietta, Annie, Eva, Rose, William and Peter all of Andover.

The funeral will be held on Saturday morning at the late home on Bartlett street, with a requiem mass in St. Augustine's church at 9 o'clock. Burial will take place in St. Augustine's cemetery.

Mail Door Slot or Receptacle Campaign

The mail door slot or receptacle campaign which has been going on in Andover for the past four months will terminate on December 31, 1922.

Up to the present time fully 95 per cent of the dwelling houses served by the Andover post office are equipped with either a slot or mail box.

Postmaster McDonald urges the remaining 5 per cent to immediately erect a box or have a slot cut in the door. Compliance with this request will obviate the necessity of enforcing the ruling of the post office department to the effect that dwelling houses not equipped with a box or slot be deprived of city delivery service after December 31, 1922.

The department prescribes no particular kind of receptacle. The simplest form of slot or box is acceptable. The expense is negligible. Patrons through the country are cheerfully and promptly complying. Andover must report 100 per cent perfect in this respect. Your hearty cooperation is solicited.

Local Singer Pleases Lowell
Audience

The 128th regular meeting of the Lowell Congregational Club was held on Monday night, December 4 at the Eliot Union Congregational Church. There was a social hour in the upper church previous to the supper which was served in the vestry at 6.45.

Following the supper President Charles
L. Randall took the chair and introduced Miss Edna Lawrence of this town who sang a group of Negro Spirituals. The Lowell Courier-Citizen says of her: "In a manner which plainly charmed her audience Miss Lawrence succeeds with this type of music much better than some professional singers, as she catches the real spirit of the songs, and sings them in a reverent spirit." Among her numbers were the well known spirituals

"Shouting all over God's Heaven," "Steal Away," "Were you there when they Crucified
My Lord?" and "I want to be a Christian in my heart."

Miss Lawrence sang another group of songs at the conclusion of the business and the audience recalled her several times.

Mr. Randall referred to the fact that this is "Educational Week" and that it was particularly fitting that the club should have as the speaker of the evening Dr. Payson Smith, commissioner of education for the state of Massachusetts and the leading educator of the state, and Miss Lawrence a student in the Senior Class of the Normal School and member of the course for supervisors of music. Dr. Smith's subject was "Current Problems in Education."

Western Union Has Xmas Service

The Western Union Telegraph Company has solved the Christmas present problem to distant relatives and friends. Reasoning that the most acceptable gift that can be made is money, the Company has an arrangement whereby money may be deposited at any of its offices at any time prior to December 25th. The money will be forwarded to points of destination and on Christmas day it will be delivered accompanied by a suitable holiday greeting message giving the name of the sender. The money will be paid in fresh crisp new bills or by draft, as the sender desires.

In addition to this service it is possible to step into any Western Union office and place an order for the purchase of flowers, candy, cigars, books or similar items. The Western Union will transmit the order together with the money to the point of destination and its representatives at that point will make the purchase as requested and arrange for the delivery of it by messenger.

By the arrangement all that is necessary for a resident of Andover to do, if he wishes to purchase a present for a friend or relative in Chicago, New Orleans, Los Angeles or any other place, is to step into the local

Western Union office, tell the manager or counter clerk what articles he wishes delivered the time he wants delivery made and then go rejoicing on his way. If he wishes money paid as a Christmas gift, deposit the money and on Christmas morning, the money will be delivered.

Professor Andrews to Lecture on Czecho-Slovakia

many of which are colored, present views of the wonderful scenery, the customs and life of the people of that country.
Friends of the school are invited. No admission fee will be charged.

Preparing for Christmas Rush Arrangements are now being made at the local post office to cope with the Christmas rush, indications promising a brisk one.
Postmaster McDonald requests that in preparing your parcels for mailing remember to:
1. Wrap with tough paper.
2. Tie with stout cord.
3. Write or print a plain address with ink.
4. Place return address in upper left hand corner.
5. Attach address to article inside wrapping.
6. Inclose articles liable to breakage in corrugated paper or wooden boxes and pack in excelsior or similar substance.
7. If contents are perishable or fragile mark the package conspicuously or have the mail clerks do it for you.
8. Be sure and INSURE ALL YOUR PARCELS.
9. ABOVE ALL—MAIL EARLY, and insure PROMPT DELIVERY.
It is hoped that the public will refrain from using small envelopes as these must be canceled by hand and wastes considerable time. Mica post cards are not allowed in the mails.
Parcels for the West and South should be mailed on or before December 14th, to insure delivery before Christmas.

Education Week Observed in Local School

Special exercises were held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Friday at the Stowe school in observance of Education Week. While the school was assembled for opening exercises the principal, Miss Clara A. Putnam, has given ten-minute talks on topics selected from the program prepared by the combined efforts of the American Legion, the National Education association, and the United States Bureau of Education.

Tuesday was "American Citizenship Day" and the slogans were, "Children today, citizens tomorrow;" and the "Universal use of the English language in the United States." Topics suggested for the day were "The flag, an emblem of freedom," "Music as a nation-builder," "The citizen's duty to vote."

"Parent and Teachers Day" was on Tuesday and it was impressed upon the children that theirs was a great privilege to live in a town and a state where there is such an excellent school system with teachers specially trained and prepared for their work.

Today was "Health and Hygiene Day." Since "A sick body makes a sick mind" the health of the school child is of the utmost importance. Playgrounds and athletics have a part in the health program of boys and girls.

In connection with Education week original posters have been made by the scholars and a very creditable exhibition is now on display at the office of the superintendent of schools.

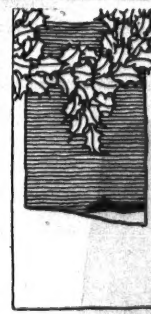

Education Week was instituted in December of 1921 by President Harding who, in an appeal for its general observance said: "Public education is the basis of citizenship and is of primary importance to the welfare of the nation," and urged the citizens of every state to give special and thoughtful attention to the needs and the aims of the public school.

GENTLEMEN'S NIGHT

Shawsheen Women's Club Holds Annual Social Event. Entertained by Soloist and Famous Artist.

The Shawsheen Village Women's club held their annual Gentlemen's Night on Monday evening and a large and appreciative audience listened to a very interesting and instructive lecture by Mrs. Anna Coleman Ladd.

A short business meeting was held during which the president, Mrs. Donald Carter, announced that the club had been given charge of the sale of Christmas Seals in the Village for the Anti-tuberculosis league. An appeal was made for funds to make up the contributions to be sent to the women's colleges of the Orient.

Ruth Humphrey Knight was the soloist and she delightfully entertained with a song recital of English ballads and the modern songs of the present day.

Her program was:

Pastoral
Old English Ballads
Come Lanes and Lads
To the maypole haste away
It was a lover and his lass
My lovely Celia

Nymphs and Shepherds
Phillips has such charming graces
Modern English songs
Blackbird's Song
Spring's Awakening

Miss Martha Smith accompanied in her usual finished manner.

The club was especially fortunate in securing Mrs. Anna Coleman Ladd as the speaker and her lecture on "Art and Life" was a rare treat and her live sense of humor and wit held her audience throughout. Mrs. Ladd, famous sculptor and portrait painter, is also noted as an interior decorator for people still come from a distance to see the Y. W. C. A. buildings at Lawrence which she decorated assisted by a band of young artists. Mrs. Ladd showed colored lantern slides of her studios on the North Shore and in Paris, including pictures of soldiers of the World War cruelly mutilated, for whom she has made masks, reproducing features from photographs so that it was possible for them to again mingle inconspicuously with their fellowmen.

Refreshments were served by the entertainment committee, Mrs. Bernard Harig, Mrs. James Mosher, Mrs. Whitworth.

Mutton from Cuttyhunk

In the big freezer at the Shawsheen Cafeteria are hung the carcasses of 200 sheep recently received there. Although this is not an unusually large supply for the Cafeteria, since it furnishes meat not only for its own kitchens and the Shawsheen Manor but as well for the restaurants of the American Woolen Company in Lawrence, it is noteworthy, since these sheep are from the flock of William M. Wood at Cuttyhunk Island.

Sheep were never raised on Cuttyhunk Island until Mr. Wood, who has a summer home there, started a small flock some years ago. It was freely predicted at the time that the experiment was bound to end in failure and it was watched with interest by New England sheep growers generally.

The receipt of a shipment of this size would argue that the islands of the Elizabeth group provide an excellent opportunity for raising hardy breeds of sheep.

Joseph DeAcutis, manager of the Cafeteria, says the mutton is of the highest quality and predicts a ready market for any future lots he may receive.

Tickets are selling rapidly for the Shawsheen Civic Association entertainment to be held on Monday evening, December 11, in the Balmoral hall on North Main street. Miss Carpenter will give for the approval of Villagers, a comedy play, entitled "The First Year."

Miss Carpenter is sure to please as she has an attractive personality and possess the ability to hold her audience—to make them cry and the next minute laugh away their tears.

STATE CUP SERIES TIE

Shawsheen Holds Abbot Worst to a Scoreless Tie in Game Full of Thrills and Brilliant Goal Tending.

Shawsheen played Abbot Worst in the second round of the State Cup series at Balmoral athletic field on last Saturday, the game resulting in a scoreless tie.

For Shawsheen, Hurrell played a great game in goal, his picking and clearing was safe and sound. Smith and Jackson played a fine game and Coleman, Haddon and Caldwell made a good trio. Haddon was the same great breaker-up and showed great grit in returning to the game after a bad knee accident.

For the Abbots, Neill in goal was out of position which was evident and appeared somewhat nervous in his new berth. Ross and Cosgrove made a good pair of backs, the former being very safe in his kicking. Kelley, Parker and Corrigan made a good intermediate line.

Council started the game where midfield play was in order for a time with superb tackling a feature in the opening session. From the kick, Walker got away and passed out to Skea, but the winger shot distantly when a cross would have scored to better purpose. Duncan was now ruled offside when Parker swung the ball out to the winger. The Shawsheens carried play into the Abbots' territory and from a good centre by Skea, Corrigan brought off a timely and clever clearance in front. A nice placement by Coleman to Deyermund sent the winger away with a nice run down the line, working himself into the centre he drove the ball in for Neill to gather and clear his lines. Council now tested the Abbots' goalie who pushed the ball behind for a corner, from the flag kick.

Haddon just cleared the bar with a good drive, a very close shave with the goalie apparently beaten. Corrigan was penalized for a foul throw which gained little relief as Kane was now in evidence with a grand out to Dundas found the winger sending in a hard drive for Hurrell to bring off a good save.

The Abbots were now having the best of it; Parker testing Hurrell with a good drive only to find the goalie unbeatable. From another raid on the Shawsheen goal Hurrell was pressed and a melee resulted where Haddon handled close to the upright, a penalty kick being awarded to Abbots, from which Jack Kershaw placed into the hands of Hurrell, who amid great cheering, brought off a grand save and a good clearance. Shortly after half time was called with a scoreless sheet.

In the second half, play was fast and travelled with rapidly from end to end. Quinn and Haddon both made fruitless attempts to leave the goal. The Abbots' goal was now very fortunate to escape with Neill fumbling a hard drive from the right and the goalie outstretched on the goal line; the ball lay close to the upright but an Abbot defender was fortunately first on the scene to clear away from the danger zone.

Duncan received a bad shaking and had to leave the field. Quinn was then injured on resumption and the Abbots were badly crippled. Play had hardly got started again when Haddon was injured and had to be carried off. With the teams now evenly balanced, 10 on each side, Abbots pressed hard and Hurrell made two clever saves from Kane and Kershaw, from the latter he smothered the ball on the goal line. Referee Crowther awarded Shawsheen a free kick for impeding on the goalie. Haddon was cheered as he returned to the fray. In the closing stages, Quinn came very close to scoring the winning goal, but Hurrell saved his lines splendidly. Time was then called with the result as follows: Shawsheen 0—Abbot Worst 0.

Many women think that by using sour milk in baking they are making a saving.

They often fail to realize that if the sour milk contains a little too much acid, or if the proportion of milk and soda is not exactly right, the whole baking may be spoiled.
